

THE WORLD OF HH

HH Electronic offers the musician and soundman a completely new range of superb sound equipment made possible by HH advanced electronic/acoustic technology. These latest sound systems are designed and manufactured by HH to give you live sound of better quality than existing systems.

What does this mean? It means that HH have designed a new range of sound equipment from a total systems concept. We have looked at every aspect of your sound equipment requirements — mixers, amplifiers, loudspeakers, effects, accessories... Within the HH organisation there are multiple skills — HH Acoustics design and manufacture loudspeakers, and HH Electronic specialise in amplifiers and mixers: now the HH team has brought together separate disciplines to create these splendid new sound systems. The HH formula results in sound components that are totally compatible — that match together perfectly. Here is the fruit of research, the successful outcome of repeated tests to achieve top performance, smooth wide-range response throughout the entire audio spectrum, properly controlled dispersion, with low distortion and high power capability.

HH Sound Systems offer the best sound, the way you like it. Whether it's a small club or large concert, practice session or fixed installation, the new HH sound systems have the versatility and performance for almost any surroundings. You can choose your ideal HH system to put out your sound, your way! You create the music, and let the new HH sound systems deliver it to your audience, loud and clear.

As music has progressed over the years, so sound equipment has become more sophisticated, with both artists and audiences expecting a live performance to come somewhere near the quality of recorded sound. Considering that records are made in near-perfect studio conditions with the help of multi-tracking whilst live performances can take place anywhere from the Albert Hall downwards, it is essential for you to use the best system that economics allow. HH make sound equipment for many of the world's top recording and broadcast studios, so we know what good sound is all about. We have built into our new sound systems the benefit of that experience for your audience.
